An Invitation to Celebrate Healthy Schools Day in Canada!

The annual national Healthy Schools Day in Canada
- Journée des écoles saines du Canada will be

Tuesday, April 8, 2014

You, your school, school board, or your group are invited to take part in Healthy Schools Day in Canada on April 8, 2014.

Learning and health are affected by indoor environmental health factors, such as cleaning materials, maintenance, indoor mould growth, lead, asbestos, and much more.

Plan ahead to hold an event, launch a project, or complete a project, and join with others across Canada to make our schools the healthiest they can be.

Please register your projects on the Healthy Schools Day web page:
www.casle.ca/HealthySchoolsDay

To learn more about school environmental health for new or existing schools, go to www.casle.ca

Please spread the word each year and encourage projects small and large to celebrate healthy school indoor environments and foster improvements to indoor air quality.

CASLE (Canadians for A Safe Learning Environment) is coordinating Healthy Schools Day in Canada, but the Day belongs to everyone who cares about healthy indoor environment quality in schools. Healthy Schools Day (HSD) is celebrated annually near the Council of Educational Facilities Planners International's (CEFPI) School building Week.

Take part in Healthy Schools Day in Canada
- Journée des écoles saines du Canada.

Healthy Schools don't just Happen. They need you!
